

Home	Tests	Socionics	Sociotypes	Tools
Forums

Socionics Personality Tests

The Original Socionics Test	The Extended Socionics Test	About The Tests
-----------------------------	-----------------------------	-----------------

In General

In General

★★★★★

Makes scheduling a breeze

"Used to have graphs and spreadsheets that were a total mess. Now I schedule my entire month in a half hour."

– Coffee Shop Owner

GET STARTED  When

Start

- Audio

Find it on all-in-1 digital

Recently Added Celebrities

Diane Keaton

I am attuned to people, relationships, and emotions.	Q. 1 	I am attuned to logic, knowledge, and empirical data.
I easily identify objects/concepts that are tangible or concrete.	Q. 2 	I easily identify objects/concepts that are intangible or abstract.
I consider the impact of a decision on others' wellbeing.	Q. 3 	I consider the logical correctness or efficiency of a decision.
I am aware of my surrounding environment and what is presently occurring.	Q. 4 	I am aware of possibilities and potential events not presently occurring.
I struggle understanding others' feelings and empathizing with them.	Q. 5 	I struggle understanding logical reasoning.
I have trouble remembering and/or focusing on tangible details and objects.	Q. 6 	I have trouble understanding abstract or intangible concepts.
I have trouble dealing with others on a personal level.	Q. 7 	I have trouble dealing with others on an impersonal level.
I am often unaware of what is going on around me.	Q. 8 	I am often unaware of hidden associations or connections.
I view the world using systems, structures, and classifications.	Q. 9 	I view the world through my interpersonal relationships as well as those of others.

Sociotype.com

I view the world through the colors, textures, sounds, compositions, tastes, etc. within it.	Q. 12 <input type="range"/>	I view the world as a starting point for determining/conceptualizing trends, patterns, or imagery.
I use general principles and rules when making decisions or reaching conclusions.	Q. 13 <input type="range"/>	I use a system of morality, right/wrong, or just/unjust when making decisions or reaching conclusions.
I follow factual, objective information when making decisions or reaching conclusions.	Q. 14 <input type="range"/>	I follow my heart when making decisions or reaching conclusions.
I jump to many conclusions, without necessarily caring to realize any of them.	Q. 15 <input type="range"/>	I focus on realizing my conclusions and generally succeed in these realizations.
I prefer to live in the past and future.	Q. 16 <input type="range"/>	I prefer to live in the present.
I care about productivity, function, efficiency, effecting change, building, engineering, business, and/or acquiring power.	Q. 17 <input type="range"/>	I care about greater societal needs and problems; I have interests in philosophy, art, psychology, sociology, and/or politics or similar fields.
I care about people, making connections with them, and interpersonal interactions. I often enjoy hosting and going to parties, gossip, familial interaction, and other types of activities that value or emphasize socialization.	Q. 18 <input type="range"/>	I care about researching areas of interest. I often put much thought and time into an area of interest, finding information on the topic, making conclusions and deductions, and then presenting these plans, hypotheses, theories, and predictions.
I am very pragmatic and seek to improve my own individual position.	Q. 19 <input type="range"/>	I am a humanitarian and seek to improve society.
I value socializing as a means to improve people's mood and/or to strengthen my relationships with those people.	Q. 20 <input type="range"/>	I value understanding and knowledge with less emphasis on either my personal benefit or that of society's.
I feel energized when I'm interacting with other people; being alone for extended periods of time starts to become draining.	Q. 21 <input type="range"/>	I feel energized when I'm by myself; interacting with other people for extended periods of time starts to become draining.
I tend to initiate conversations and enjoy inviting others out/over.	Q. 22 <input type="range"/>	I tend to prefer the other person initiate conversation and enjoy being invited out/over by others.
My thoughts tend to be focused externally, on the people, objects, and activities in my surrounding environment.	Q. 23 <input type="range"/>	My thoughts tend to be focused internally, on myself and how I fit in with the world.
I prefer open schedules, where I take things as they come and plans can change at any time.	Q. 24 <input type="range"/>	I prefer structure to my life; I appreciate well planned schedules and organization.
I am quite effective at dealing with fast-changing situations and find that stable environments become boring.	Q. 25 <input type="range"/>	I am quite effective when operating in a stable environment and will often struggle dealing with constantly changing situations where large amounts of new information are coming in.
I accept new information readily, preferring to judge it and place it into a larger framework later.	Q. 26 <input type="range"/>	I screen new information first--by judging its veracity and attempting to fit it into my framework of reality--before choosing to accept it.
I prefer to focus on the aspects of reality that are changing.	Q. 27 <input type="range"/>	I prefer to focus on the aspects of reality that remain constant.
You view the cup as half full.	Q. 28 <input type="range"/>	You view the cup as half empty.